GRAND RAPIDS PUBLIC LIBRARY

Finding Aid for the
John S. Lawrence Papers
Collection # 002

August 2009 version

Abstract

John S. Lawrence (1849-1924) was a Grand Rapids, Michigan lawyer and a businessman. He was an active member of the Democratic Party, a rare book collector, and member or officer in numerous civic organizations, such as President of the Grand Rapids Historical Society and the Grand Rapids Library Commission. This collection primarily documents Lawrence's position as Master in Chancery of United States District Court (1887-1924). There he acted as receiver for insolvent railroad companies and banks, including Northern National Bank and Big Rapids National Bank in Big Rapids, Michigan. Some of the papers provide documentation on the Depression of 1893 in the Grand Rapids area. Other papers relate to Lawrence's political interests and book collecting activities. The collection includes correspondence, Democratic County Committee records, several scrapbooks with reference to those he prepared for the Peninsular Club, legal records, title abstracts, miscellaneous papers, a catalog of his library books, and account books. Book items which he donated to the Grand Rapids Public Library, known to be part of the Local History Book Collection, are marked with a bookplate in his name at the front of the book. Some examples of these books are being added to this archival collection, when the items physical condition requires more protective housing. Other materials with a Lawrence bookplate or marked as given by Lawrence may be found in other archival collections, with some cross-referenced here when found.

Biography

John Strachan Lawrence was born in Waterford, New York, 15 April 1849, the oldest son of John and Cornelia Porter Lawrence. The family moved to Chicago when John Jr. was 14. John went on a trip to Europe with his parents in 1867, only to receive word upon their return to New York where his younger siblings had been staying, that his younger brother Porter had accidentally drowned. A family genealogy later prepared by John S. Lawrence documents the earlier deaths of two young daughters, Eva (1851-1862), and Mary Lawrence (1856-1858). Another sister, Mary Porter Lawrence was born in 1860 and survived to adulthood. Cornelia Porter herself died in March of 1868; his father remarried.

John S. Lawrence graduated from Harvard University in 1871, and after studying modern languages at the University of Berlin, he returned to the United States to manage his father's lumber interests in Newago, Michigan for about five year. In 1877 he moved to Grand Rapids, Michigan, where he studied law in the offices of Hughes, O'Brien, and Smillie.

Lawrence was admitted to the bar in 1879 and appointed Master in Chancery of the United States District Court in 1887, a position he held for 37 years. In 1887, the Comptroller of Currency appointed him receiver of Lowell National Bank and, in 1893, he was appointed receiver of Northern National Bank in Big Rapids, Michigan. An active member of the Democratic Party, Lawrence was nominated for state senator in 1876 and was a candidate for regent of the University of Michigan in 1889. He was defeated by Charles Belknap in the congressional election of 1891. Lawrence was a member of numerous civic organizations including the Grand Rapids Historical Association, the Grand Rapids Library Commission, Police and Fire Commission, one of the original organizers of the Peninsular Club, and the University Club.

Lawrence maintained a lifelong interest in literature. He studied Romance languages under James Russell Lowell at Harvard and attended lectures by Ralph Waldo Emerson and Henry Wordsworth Longfellow. He acquired a large personal library and a fine collection of rare books.

Of interest in the collection is a documents related to libel suit, Lawrence vs Mayor George Ellis and the GR Herald, dated 1909. It provides primarily autobiographical information by Lawrence, and mentions his windowed sister & family living in Muskegon, as well as his cousin and wife in Lansing, and relatives in Detroit. On July 31, 1922, the Grand Rapids Herald reported that Lawrence was the main beneficiary of the million dollar will of his cousin, William L. Porter of Horicom, N.Y. No research has been done to determine the final disposition of these funds, either before or at Lawrence own death. He never married, but his sister Mary Lawrence Loomis of Princeton, New Jersey, as well as his name sake nephew John L. Loomis of Ann Arbor, were with him in Grand Rapids at his death 20 July 1924.

Processor's Note

Users of the Lawrence papers should be aware that parts of the collection were separated from the main body of papers, after the collection was received by the Grand Rapids Public Library in 1926. The separated papers were cataloged under various subject headings in the card catalog and shelved in several different locations. Between 1983 and 1988, some of the dispersed papers were discovered and refiled with the Lawrence collection. Between 2000-xxxx, some books with his bookplate were moved to the collection, while other remain undiscovered in the book holdings of the Local History Reference Collection. In Feb. 2002 some photos found in the 54-12-11 Grand River Views - Log Jam 1883 folder were discovered to have the note "Lawrence Coll." On verso. These have been left in Coll. 54, with a photocopy representation of the images placed in the Lawrence Collection. There may be other photos given by Lawrence in Coll. 054 in addition to the items located to date. In April of 2007 a folder of photos was discovered within the Lawrence Collection containing 11 portrait photos of Michigan residence, not previously documented in the finding aid or people indexes. These have now been formally processed for the collection.
