Summary Information

Repository:	Grand Rapids History Center
Title:	Grand Rapids Public Library map and atlas collection
ID:	Collection 240
Date:	no date
Physical Description:	70.3 Linear Feet
Language of the Material:	English .
Abstract:	This is a devised collection that was created to document the maps and atlases which are not part of another designated archival collection. Included are over a thousand items, focusing on the greater Grand Rapids, Michigan and Kent County areas. Maps for select areas of Michigan and for the entire state are also available. The collection contains a variety of maps, including historical property surveys, plat maps, street maps, city planning maps, railway maps, recreational maps, river or lake maps, pictorial maps, aerials and geological or topographical maps.

Biographical / Historical

The maps currently included in Collection 240 date from as early as 1566, with a published "Finaeus Cordiform Map of the World." The handful of pre-19th Century maps are early U.S., Canadian and/or those of British or French influence. Maps of Grand Rapids begin around 1833 with a Plat of the Village of Grand Rapids. The map management database documents a steady flow of one type of map or another from 1833 to the present, though not all of these may be for the Grand Rapids area. Some interesting comparisons might be made, of the information in the 1896 map of Michigan bicycle routes, for example, with the 2006/2007 Michigan bike routes map.

^ Return to Table of Contents

Scope and Contents

The GRPL map and atlas collection primarily includes items which correspond to the local history mission of the department, covering the Greater Grand Rapids area and Kent County foremost, with the addition of some maps for other areas of Michigan, or Michigan in general. Currently, there are also maps and atlases in the map inventory which are national or international in content. Some of these have been retained as content sources for genealogy.

Other atlases and maps are housed in the Local History Public Service area, and currently not considered part of the archival holdings. However, there may be a general cross reference given in this finding aid to some of these LH atlases from similar holdings housed in the Archives. In some cases the original plat map, for example, is now in the Archives, and a photocopy is in the LH area boxes.

Included in this collection are many oversized maps, stored in flat files, on top of the flat files and in rolled tubes. These items are not yet listed in this finding aid, though they are considered part of this collection. For the most part, the oversized map items are listed in the separate map management database, not currently available online.

This finding aid currently documents the smaller maps in boxes in the Archives, and those atlases also located in boxes in the Archives.

The old Map card file, which used to be the primary access tool for maps in the department, does not include maps added to the collections in recent years, and does not provide location information, which is found in either this finding aid or in the map management database.

GRHSC public service floor holdings are not currently listed in the archival collection finding aid, though many are housed on the service floor in archival storage boxes. In some cases, the latest available holdings of a title, such as the Sidwell's Insurance Maps, are housed on the public floor, while older versions are in Collection 240.

One key map set which is held only in the GRHSC public service area, for example, is the Sanborn maps. Only holdings from the 1950's are in the original paper format, while three earlier time periods are available on microfilm, providing a footprint of a building from ca. 1890 to around 1954.

Also, other map holdings may be located at the City Archives, which has much more current sets of the Sidwell's maps, for example, than currently held at GRPL. These may be viewed by appointment only, with the City Archivist, Bill Cunningham, 616-456-3114.

Coll. 044: John Ball Collection, contain maps of the U.S., related to his travel, following the routes of earlier explorers.

Coll. 132: Kent County Bridges Collection, includes reports with select maps related to bridge/road construction over the Grand River from the Michigan Department of Transportation.

Coll. 216: GRPL Ephemera Collection, contains guides and flyers which may include Grand Rapids or section area maps as part of their contents.

Coll. 245: Past Perfect, may contain city planning maps.

Coll. 254: GRPL Buildings, may contain city planning maps

Coll. 281: GRPL Michigan History Collection. May contain references to boxes or flat file maps/charts, etc. for Michigan, but not Grand Rapids map items.

Coll. 303: City of Grand Rapids (Michigan) Records at the Grand Rapids Public Library. In particular, City Planning reports may contain maps. See also the separate City Archives.

Limited holdings of other maps may be found in other GRPL archival collections, including those published within the documents in those collections or captured as a photograph of a map.

General

This item is described on the piece in the same manner as the item below. And, the content of the maps is basically the same. However, some of the maps in this version have major highways added over the basic plat map. And, the individual maps are physically ordered in the booklet differently than the item below. Presuming that both publications are essentially the same date, this item might be called a variant publication of the usual plat below.
